Is there jammer that can be hidden in a palm of the hand?

2020/02/15

Hi Lucas! Purchasing your signal jammer is a very important and responsible thing that requires accurate preparations. And you did the right thing that asked this question here. There are many different models of signal jammers and sometimes it is hard to select the type you exactly need and that completely matches all your needs and demands. If the main concern that bothers you is the ability of your signal jammer to be hidden in your pocket, bag, purse, briefcase or some other place, then you can check out this, this and this jammer. All of them are so small and compact that you can easily hide them almost anywhere and even take any of them in your hand and conceal it in that way. As you can see, palm-sized signal jammers exist indeed and they are quite useful in many situations because there are few different models created to deal with different kinds of frequency bands.
